

CPC Church Members

Concerning church members who think they may have been exposed to COVID-19 or are experiencing signs of respiratory illness, your COVID Committee advises the following:

All members that are sick are asked to please stay at home.

If you have COVID-19 symptoms, including cough, fever, and shortness of breath, please contact your primary care physician or call 911 if it is an emergency.

Protocol for returning to in-person worship after testing positive for COVID-19:

The following protocols are meant to guide members in deciding when they should resume in-person worship after testing positive for COVID-19:

Symptomatic members

For members who have tested positive for COVID-19 and are still symptomatic, they should wait 10 days from the first onset of symptoms. After the 10 days, if the member has been asymptomatic for another 3 days they may return to in-person worship, continue self-monitoring and follow church protocol.

Non-Symptomatic members

For members who have tested positive for COVID-19 and are not symptomatic, they should wait 10 days from the date of the positive test result to return to in person worship.

Low risk exposure to COVID-19

Members who have had a low risk exposure should self-monitor for 3 days. After this, if the member doesn't demonstrate any COVID-19 symptoms, or respiratory illness, the member may resume in-person worship and continue self-monitoring for 10 days. If member becomes symptomatic please follow the protocol above.

Low risk exposure: Members who briefly interact with someone that is COVID positive, but maintain social distance, wear a mask, frequently wash their hands, and interact with any infected person for less than 15 minutes is considered a low risk exposure. Please refer CDC guidelines for definition of a high risk exposures.
